People march on for the NHS

PROTESTERS marched into the town centre from Bedford this week for the NHS.

The campaign was to raise awareness about concerns over government policy.

Rehana Azam, one of the founders of the campaign, said: "Hospital services across the country are being shut down at an alarming rate. We are not only marching to support a fair funding in the NHS budget, but to overturn the Health & Social Care Act which has enforced privatisation of profitable NHS services, and has allowed them to be axed elsewhere."

Report slams Beds Police for 'placing public at risk'

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

A NEW report has shown that the public could be put at 'significant risk' due to a lack of resources at Bedfordshire Police.

In a letter released by Her Majesty's Inspector of Constabulary (HMIC), the county force was not shown in a positive light.

Bedfordshire Police come across very poorly as a result of the investigation, with particular stress being made on how the force lacks resources at times, which could put the public at significant risk.

An excerpt from the letter read:

"There were insufficient resources in the force's response function which was overwhelmed at the time of the inspection. It was unable to meet calls for assistance (including calls graded as 'immediate') in a timely manner and this was potentially placing the public at significant risk."

It also mentioned there being a lack of understanding on how to judge levels of threat when it comes to responding to crimes and incidents, reading: "The force does not have a policy to attend all reports of crimes and incidents, but one based on a series of considerations including identifying the threat, risk

What do you think?

Email editor@lsnmedia.co.uk and harm to the victim, caller or community. Some staff do not fully understand how to assess the level of threat, harm and risk. HMIC understands that the force has not consulted with the public in relation to this policy."

A letter was sent to all 43 police forces in the country as a result of a report by HMIC titled 'Making best use of police time.'

Clr for Challney, Tom Shaw, said: "Some people in Challney and Lewsey Farm don't even bother reporting incidents to the police.

"The areas are that under-policed and I can't see it getting better either.

"The police got rid of a lot of experienced officers recently, meaning a lot of local expertise went as well.

"We've now got PCSOs policing these areas who just don't have the experience or the local knowledge of the officers who were previously there. It's a mismanagement issue going right to the top."

On the letter, Bedfordshire Police Assistant Chief Constable, Nigel Trippett, said: "While the report highlights a number of good examples where Bedfordshire Police has undertaken long-term crime prevention initiatives we accept that more needs to be done to ensure victim satisfaction.

"All crimes are treated with the utmost importance and we follow the National Crime Recording Standards to record crime and assign an appropriate response. The force has taken great strides in addressing other concerns including the recruitment of 65 new officers with 34 more starting later this month.

"We have also embraced technology with the use of mobile devices, tablets and body worn cameras and we continue to explore further opportunities for collaboration in an attempt to reduce costs and increase efficiency."

Judge gives 'perverted' paedophile 10 year term

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A PAEDOPHILE from Dunstable who sexually assaulted two girls and was caught with thousands of child abuse images on his laptops has been jailed for 10 years.

Martin Seaborn (pictured), 55, carried out attacks on one girl when she was aged seven and eight for around a year until his arrest in August last year.

He also admitted assaulting another girl on one occasion when she was 11 in 1996.

Prosecutor Simon Ash told Luton Crown Court that when police examined his computer they found indecent images of children that he had obtained from a 'peer to peer file sharing site'.

He had used the search term 'PTHC' which stood for 'Pre Teen Hard Core'. Some of the children pictured engaging in sex acts with adults were aged as young as three. Many of the images were at the most serious levels.

After his arrest Seaborn, who worked as a cable installer, was bailed and his computers were seized. However, he went out and bought another laptop and downloaded more child sex images, said the prosecutor.

Seaborn, of The Maltings, Bele Street, Dunstable, pleaded guilty to 15 counts: five were for assault by penetration, four were for sexual assault, one for indecent assault and five for possessing indecent images. He had previous convictions for theft and driving offences.

Defence barrister James McCrindle said: "He is struggling to come to terms with what he had done. He is ashamed and remorseful about his conduct."

He said the two victims had been spared the trauma of reliving the events.

Judge David Farrell QC told him he had carried out a 'catalogue' of abuse on the youngest girl.

He said he had collected thousands of child abuse images for his 'perverted sexual gratification'. He passed an indefinite Sexual Offences Prevention Order, which included a ban on Seaborn contacting the youngest victim and having any unsupervised contact with children.

Seaborn must also register as a Sex Offender for life.

Officers appear in court over Faruk Ali charge

TWO Bedfordshire Police constables appeared before magistrates on Monday accused of assaulting a 33-year-old autistic man in Luton.

PC Christopher Thomas, 33, from Welwyn Garden City, is accused of racially aggravated assault on Faruk Ali, assault by beating, perverting the course of public justice and misconduct in public office.

PC Christopher Pitts, 39, from Bedford, is charged with perverting the course of justice and misconduct in public office.

Both men made a brief appearance at Aylesbury Magistrates' Court, where their case was transferred to Amersham Crown Court.

They were charged after officers from Leicestershire Police carried out an investigation into alleged events outside Mr Ali's home in Whitby Road, Luton, on February 20 this year.

GUN SUPPLIER IN ALI CASE JAILED

THE man who supplied the gun used to shoot Atif Ali has been jailed for 15 years at Luton Crown Court. Matthew McCafferty, 23, from Roman Road, Flitwick, sent a text message with the words: 'Bang Bang' two hours after Mr Ali was shot in the leg. During the trial the jury was told that the 'hit' on Mr Ali was ordered by convicted drug dealer Shahzad Mahroof, 28. Last month Judge Michael Kay QC jailed Mahroof and Bernard Pillay, the gunman, for life.

ATTEMPTED MURDER ARRESTS

TWO men have been arrested on suspicion of attempted murder in connection with an incident where a man was hit by a car in St Dominic's Square, Luton. The 24-year-old victim was carried for about 50 yards on the bonnet of the stolen Seat after the driver deliberately drove at him on June 12. He landed on the pavement and was lucky to escape serious injury before the vehicle drove off. The two men, one aged 25 and the other 21, were arrested on Thursday morning by the Major Crime Unit.

COUNCIL FIXES 1,200 POTHOLES

MORE than 1,200 potholes have been fixed in Central Bedfordshire in the last three weeks. The work has been carried out with a new piece of equipment known as the Velocity Patcher which can mend up to 150 potholes per day. The process means the council can usually carry out the work without closing the road. Cllr Brian Spurr said maintaining the roads in Central Bedfordshire was a 'key priority' for the council.

NEW ARRIVAL AT WHIPSNAD ZOO

ZOOKEEPERS at Whipsnade Zoo are said to be at 'an all-time high' after welcoming a new baby giraffe. The as-yet unnamed giraffe was born on August 18 to second-time mum Ijuma. The female calf measures just over 5ft and has already begun running around her paddock, keepers said. You can see a gallery of pictures of her on our website.

Sir, your £19.5k jet trip is ready for take-off...

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AS luxury trips go, a 16-day five-star journey to six countries by private jet takes some beating.

From your base at Luton Airport you fly to Istanbul for three nights before hopping back on the plane and heading to China.

But there is a snag - you need to have a spare £19,500 for the trip.

Now, you may argue you have better things to spend your money on but in the event that you do have some loose change hiding in the sofa, then you might want to call Australian-based tour company Captain's Choice.

On Wednesday the firm flew 44 passengers from Luton Airport on one of its 'Silk Road & Beyond' private jet tours.

The guests, who are travelling on an Airbus A319 reconfigured with business class seats, were joined by 12 permanent crew and a cargo which includes 112 bottles of champagne and 350 bottles of wine for 16 days of extravagance.

They will visit Turkey, China, Uzbekistan, Armenia, Georgia and Azerbaijan before heading back to the UK.

Captain's Choice has been running travel tours since 1994 and currently has six different private jet trips on offer, including a 22-day 'Around the World' trip for £34,850 starting next March.

Some of the sights on the Silk Road tour include the Blue Mosque in Istanbul, the Emir's Palace in Uzbekistan and a boat tour across the bay of Baku in Azerbaijan.

Among the 'tour escort team' waiting on you will be Gordon Highman, an Australian tour manager in charge of this particular Silk Road trip and who has been on 27 journeys in that capacity.

He said: "My role can be from anything to serving wine on an aircraft to serving a meal in a restaurant if we're pushed or if there's a problem. I make sure the hotel rooms are correct and that the land agent works with us and with the guide.

"I also make sure that everything works to plan, deal with different weathers, situations, deal with cancelled flights and make split decisions. They have to be the right decisions - that's most important."

At £1,218 a day, that is an expensive set of decision-making skills but Gordon said he prepares for the trip a month in advance by getting himself 'brutally fit' for some of the 4am starts he deals with.

And one of his highlights of the trip? He said: "Taking off on one of these A319s down the runway in Luton, knowing that you've got a really spectacular set of days ahead."

IF YOU'VE GOT £19.5K TO SPARE...WHAT ELSE COULD IT BUY?

- Vauxhall's new Vivaro van
- 18 nights in Luton Hoo's luxury state suite
- 650 easyJet flights to Turkey
- 35 Luton Town 'diamond' season tickets

School 'extension' upsets neighbours

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PROPOSED expansion to Stopsley High School has outraged residents.

The controversial new development is planned at the back of St Thomas's Road and Mixes Hill Road.

Philip Darnell, 68, of St Thomas's Road, said: "We are not happy with this at all; it's too close and too large."

"We have no opposition to the school expanding, it could just go in other places."

"What's more, there will be an access road for lorries which will run almost next to our back walls."

His daughter, Melanie Darnell, 44, who also lives at the house, added: "Also, with the school expanding by around a third there will also be an increase in traffic, which the area struggles to cope with as it is."

"We'll be at the back of the music block, construction department and the kitchens, so it's going to be noisy."

"I work from home as well and with the building looming over my back garden it will feel very intrusive."

A spokeswoman for Luton Borough Council said: "This enquiry relates to a planning application for the erection of a new school building on the existing campus site."

"The agenda for the next

meeting of the Development Control Committee on September 24 has not yet been finalised but if the application is considered at this meeting then members will, of course, carefully consider all relevant planning considerations and representations made in the consultation responses received, including the views of local residents, before taking a decision.

"The agenda will be published on the council's website five days before the date of the committee meeting." If you want to speak for or against the plan call the council's Committee Services to register your right to talk.

Road shut after woman injured during assault

A WOMAN needed treatment in hospital for a cut to her back after she was pushed to the ground by three men.

The 22-year-old was assaulted in Ashburnham Road on Monday at about 2.20pm.

Police said they arrested a 27-year-old man in connection with the incident who has since been bailed. Following the attack the road was closed at the junction of Brantwood Park and Downs Road while officers and the Ambulance Service were on the scene.

It remained closed for several hours while Scenes of Crime Officers completed a full forensic examination of the area.

The victim has now been released from hospital and officers said she is recovering.

Anyone with information should contact Bedfordshire Police, in confidence, on 01582 394310 or 101.

People step up to support the NHS

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

CAMPAIGNERS marched into the town centre this week as part of a nationwide protest against the government's health policy.

The 'People's March for the NHS' saw protesters walk from Bedford to Luton, where they held a rally.

The march was started by a group of mothers in Darlington who said they were 'concerned and outraged at the assault by government' on the health system.

Currently the future of healthcare services in Bedfordshire is under review.

There are also reviews taking place in other parts of the country.

Campaigners set off in Jarrow on August 16 and were due to arrive in London yesterday, in similar fashion to the Jarrow Crusade in 1936 against unemployment rates.

During the rally there were speeches by the leader of the Green Party Natalie Bennett, Luton council leader Cllr Hazel Simmons, Kelvin Hopkins MP and others.

PROTEST: A campaigner makes a stand, and inset, MP Kelvin Hopkins

Rehana Azam, one of the organisers of the march, said: "The people at the local community centre in Dunstable Road were absolutely tremendous and they put us up for the night."

"What's interesting is that people came to us afterwards and they were telling us why what we are doing is good."

"What we're trying to do is mobilise the public in their thousands and have them shouting in the streets. That's what it's all about."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

"The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

NOT JUST ANOTHER RESTAURANT

And the winner is...
colouring star Sham

SEVEN-year-old Sham Mastenburg's colouring skills have earned her a prize. The Mall in Luton picked the little girl as the winner of its summer colouring competition held during the free summer activities at the start of last month. Sham has received a £50 gift card, as well as having her winning design showcased in the shopping centre. The Mall had asked young shoppers to tell them why they loved Luton.

Con artist jailed for burgling elderly man

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A WOMAN con artist who tricked her way into an 83-year-old man's home and tried to steal his wallet has been jailed for three and a half years.

Mary Benstead, 42, got into the house in Highbury Road, Luton, by claiming she was a carer but the man became suspicious after she asked him when he last had sex.

Prosecutor Michael Attenborough said the victim asked Benstead to leave but as she did she cuddled him and tried to reach for his wallet in his trouser pocket.

The man called police who traced her from DNA she had left on a mug of tea.

Benstead, of Milliners Court, Luton, pleaded guilty to burgling the man on April 8 this year. She had denied the charge, but changed her plea on the day of the trial after the elderly man had arrived at court to give evidence.

She had 28 convictions for 48 offences. In 2010 she was sentenced for four house break-ins and again in 2012 for three more.

Stephen Moore, defending, said Benstead had 'on-going drug problems' but since being remanded in custody had tested negative for drugs.

At Luton Crown Court on Monday Judge Michael Kay QC told her: "This was a despicable offence. Elderly people living on their own should be entitled to live their lives without fear of people who trick their way into their homes and try to steal from them."

Admit you got it wrong. . .

INSTEAD of engaging in endless self-justification, it would be refreshing if councillors and council employees could, for once, say 'yes we messed up'.

The installation of zebra crossings at Court Drive defeats the original objective of shared space (Luton on Sunday August 24 'Authority defend new road layout').

The scheme is therefore a failure. The council spokeswoman attempting to justify the cost by saying £866,000 came from 'government funding' illustrates public sector blindness to the fact that governments do not have money.

The taxpayer funds waste.

Going wild at thought of a zoo

ONE thing that Whipsnade Zoo's animal weigh-in fails to measure is the physical and mental suffering as well as the sorrow and sense of loss that wild animals indisputably experience as a result of their captivity (LoS August 31 'Zoo animals get measured up').

Freedom of choice and movement is integral to every living being, but denied that, animals in zoos have every aspect of their lives manipulated and controlled, including when and what they will eat, when and where they sleep, whom they can mate with and even if and when they can go outside into a designated space.

Stations should just beat it!

IF it is true that police stations outside of Bedford, Luton and Dunstable are used by an average of four persons per day then I believe that they should be closed forthwith, not replaced by a 'leaner' alternative.

Telephone facilities (free of charge, not 'low cost') would be adequate for the vast majority of the public; an appointment response at home by a police staff person/PCSO/police officer would be a much more economical solution for the few that require personal attention.

Without a continual flow of personal callers, mounting a static force of even one person cannot be justified; if it's police stations/cop shops or 'on the beat' you know which alternative the public wants and will accept.

Trevor Moisey

Even at the best zoos, animals are denied normal social and family groups.

Habitats are usually tiny compared to their natural range or homelands and preclude such basic natural behaviour as running and scavenging.

The animals' frustrations lead to abnormal, neurotic and self-destructive behaviour, now recognised as 'zoochosis'.

As for public education, studies show that visitors spend far more time in the gift shops and lavatories than in front of exhibits and leave zoos without having learned anything meaningful about animals' natural behaviour, intelligence or beauty.

If anything, zoos reinforce the idea that it is somehow still acceptable – when it isn't – to capture, cage and confine other living beings just because we can. There is nothing inspiring about seeing bored and depressed animals stripped of everything, including their inherent dignity.

Zoos began as menageries when few people travelled to exotic places, before we had wildlife videos and before we learned who animals really are.

We no longer have any excuse for keeping intelligent social animals locked up, thousands of miles from their homes.

What next for under fire PCCs?

IT has been well said that the first attribute required by a politician is a thick skin.

First was Rotherham's PCC. He refuses to quit after news broke 1,400 young girls became victims of grooming gangs.

The following day the news broke in Luton that the IPCC had completed their investigations into Commissioner Olly Martins' violation of the confidentiality code over the Leon Briggs case and have passed his file to the Crown Prosecution Service.

So what happens now? The CPS may decide to do nothing, or they could decide to charge him with a criminal offence; and if this results in a guilty verdict which carries a maximum sentence of at least two years Mr Martins will be sacked.

But bizarrely if the maximum sentence is for less than two years he gets to keep his job. I wonder how many other people in the country have that kind of job protection.

But how can either of these PCCs hope to command any respect and cooperation of the community they are supposed to be serving against these shadowy backdrops?

Here in Bedfordshire we must also raise a clamour to rid ourselves of Mr Martins whose sometimes comical tenure has been regularly punctuated by foot-in-mouth utterances and some highly questionable behaviour.

Having been suspended by his party he can no longer count on their support and therefore his position has become totally untenable. The longer he drags things out the worse it's going to look. He should now do the only honourable thing left - resign.

Our double standards over terrorism could be terrifying

ONE man's terrorist is another man's freedom fighter. Or so the old saying goes. And certainly that has been the case in this country for many years.

I remember helping to organise meetings for the Irish Republican Movement, the African National Congress and the Palestinian Liberation Organisation. In their time they were all called terrorists, or supporters of terrorism.

Some of Nelson Mandela's newest and greatest fans, shedding tears when he died, once called him a terrorist. So life is not always clear on such matters. In the Middle East it is even more confusing. Not long ago Assad was a state terrorist and we were supporting the opposition to him. Now apparently the opposition is worse than he is, so we are calling them terrorists and supporting Assad.

We are also calling terrorists any British Asians who go to the Middle East to fight Assad and will be taking 'strong action' should they return. This includes taking away passports and not letting them back into the country. It looks like a disaster in the making, legally, morally and organisationally.

It may of course amount to nothing and is just Cameron's attempt to divert us from seeing his party falling apart over Europe.

But any serious attempt to somehow demonise these people is likely to fail and, worse than that, bring about the opposite of what is intended.

For as long as Britain has existed people have gone off to fight or support foreign causes. And not always on the side some might have hoped for. Many leading people in this country supported Hitler, (hearing some of the ravings of UKIP, some still do). It would have been very interesting if they had been punished.

On the other side many went to fight in Spain against Franco. Then again we had those fighting in African countries, either just to earn a buck, as mercenaries, or to overthrow regimes that the West didn't like. One found guilty of helping to fund a coup was Maggie Thatcher's son, Mark, now a knight of the realm.

And of course we were literally being bombed by the IRA, and just got on with our lives.

The Irish republicans had a point, even though not many of us cared for their way of expressing it, and eventually the Government sat down with these 'terrorists'. So the whiff of double standards is almost overpowering and will likely only succeed in making our foreign policy look even weaker and more irresolute.

And at home such vacillation and dodgy legality of making people stateless will simply create martyrs – and a few million quid for lawyers.

If they have committed crimes charge them.

And where will we put them, Guantanamo Bay?

Mayah's family call for rethink on road

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

CONCERNS about the road layout in Bury Park were raised during a public meeting about the tragic death of a three-year-old girl.

Mayah Shazad died last month after being hit by an Arriva bus in Dunstable Road, Luton.

On Monday, members of her family and residents met at Dallow Learning Community Centre with Bedfordshire Police and Luton council. Arriva had also been invited but had no representative present.

Attij Malik, the solicitor for Mayah's family, said they were unhappy with how officers had dealt with the public after the collision.

He added: "There are also concerns about the road layout in Bury Park and all the humps. No-one knows who has the right of way."

"There is a general concern about the way it has been laid out. There was also concern that Arriva did not turn up to the meeting. We just want them to show some corporate responsibility."

DISCUSSION: More than a hundred people turned up for the public meeting on Monday between the community and local authorities

Paul Adcock, an area managing director for Arriva, said the firm had sent a letter to the family saying they could not attend because of the police investigation.

A police spokeswoman said officers had to deal with a 'large crowd' at the scene of the collision, which they described as 'extremely shocking, confused and distressing for all concerned'.

She added: "We have received some complaints about how officers dealt with that situation and these are now being investigated in the normal way by the Professional Standards Department."

Cllr Dave Taylor said he wanted to assure people at the meeting that all comments about the road layout would be 'fully considered as a priority' and that 'a timely response' would be given once the police investigation was complete.

IF YOU suffer from low back pain and sciatica, you are one of over 20 million adults in the UK with this often crippling spinal condition.

Shooting, stabbing and burning pains from the low back, sometimes with additional pain through the buttocks and down the legs are all symptoms of a pinched nerve often called "sciatica".

In severe cases, it can lead to muscle wasting, numbness and constant tingling down to the tip of the toes. Left untreated, the intense pain can rapidly wear you down and drain the joy out of life.

That is, until now...

Recent advances in the treatment of sciatica and lower back pain have led to the development and huge success of Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care.

The excellent results of this treatment have been published in major medical journals. With success rates as high as 90% some back surgeons recommending their patients try this treatment first before having back surgery.

In Bedfordshire, you can try Non-Surgical Re-constructive Spinal Care at the Atlas Wellness Centre – the office of low back pain and sciatica relief expert Peter Olsson.

Peter and his team of fully trained spinal care specialists have helped over 3,000 patients find relief from their agonising back pain and sciatica.

Special LUTON ON SUNDAY Reader Offer

Breakthrough relief for back pain and sciatica

According to Peter, "We use a combination of ultra-advanced technology, not found elsewhere in Bedfordshire, for precisely diagnosing the cause of your low back pain and sciatica; and a unique programme for reconstructing the damaged area causing the pain; this means superior long-term results for most people."

Because the treatment is non-surgical, safe and easy, most patients report an almost immediate relief from their pain.

Patient Jeff P. from Cambridge says, "My back pain was unbearable but the worst thing was the searing burning pain I felt in my buttock and leg."

I couldn't work or do anything useful and the drugs my GP prescribed hardly did anything.

My wife insisted I respond to one of these ads, I thought it would be a total waste of time, but I'm so glad she kept on at me.

Thank god I called your number, I'm 95% better in just a couple of weeks."

Your invitation for a comprehensive consultation and examination to pinpoint the cause of your low back pain and sciatica...

Luton on Sunday has teamed up with the spine therapy specialists at Atlas Wellness Centre, to help readers find relief from their persistent back and sciatic pain.

Sid's four years of

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

IMAGINE filming yourself everyday for four years and uploading each video on to the website YouTube.

And then drawing something new each day for two years and posting it on to the social networking site Instagram.

Oh, and amidst all that you find the time to launch a creative advertising agency.

It may sound hectic but that is the life of 25-year-old video editor Sid Ahmed.

On September 15, 2010, Sid bought a pocket camera and began filming parts of his day.

After uploading the footage on to YouTube he said other people found it funny so he did it for a week before deciding to make it a year long challenge, one that is reaching its fourth anniversary in eight days' time.

Sid said: "On the last day of the first year I made a season finale, a two-hour long summary of everything that happened in the year.

"It was quite cool and quite exciting and that whole kind of thing was popular at the time. I had about 2,500 subscribers and people who didn't watch ended up watching the season finale because it summarised everything.

"Then I thought if I can do it for one year, I can definitely do it for another year.

"That's kind of how everything works - if you can do something for X amount of time you can definitely do it again. It's more than possi-life through a lens

"Not every day is a good day. Some days are horrible and you have depressing, issues to do with family, finances, work, spirit or health. Some days you're just ill but you have to push past all that. You have to still manage to maintain it and fulfil a promise, that's what the challenge is."

But what does he hope to achieve with the experiment? "I intend to be that guy that did this strange social art project for 10, 20, 30 years and then if anyone in the future sees these videos they'll be like 'wow, this was an actual person as they were'."

"On a philosophical sense, history is written by essentially whoever wins a battle. There is always more than one side to any kind of story and if I'm an idiot, stupid or horrible to somebody, I don't want people to twist that long after I'm dead and say 'he was a wonderful guy'."

"No, I was idiot, don't lie about it because that's what it is. It's the most honest possible way of recording who I am, what I am, where I've been, what I've seen, what I've thought and what I've felt."

ble so I did it for a second year."

Since then Sid said he has turned his videos into a social media experiment looking at how much of his personal life he can share with the world. In 2012 he began drawing an image a day and posting it online. He is now selling some of his artwork.

But is it easy keeping on top of everything?

FLIGHT: The 'wind charmers' also flew a giant kite structure

Residents rush to 'charm' the wind

HUNDREDS of Dunstablians went to the Downs last Sunday to take part in the now annual Wind Charming Day.

Residents were encouraged to 'charm' the wind, taming its powerful force to stay kind over the coming months.

They also flew a giant kite structure with more than 200 handwritten messages attached which they sent into the Dunstable sky.

New BID plan for town is launched

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carlmungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

FIRMS in the town centre met this week to launch a new plan for a business improvement district (BID).

The idea includes hosts or rangers to welcome visitors to the town, more events, information about the businesses and what is happening in the town centre, and encouraging property owners to smarten up some of the older buildings.

BIDs are a government initiative aimed at boosting partnerships between local authorities and their business communities.

In Luton it has been formed by business representatives from across the town who form what is known as the 'Town Team'.

Mark Broadhead, manager of the Mall and chairman of the 'Town Team', said: "This is an exciting project and a once in a lifetime chance for businesses to vote for a project which will give them their own budget and a real influence on matters which directly impact upon their ability to attract clients and customers, and make a difference to their turnover and profit."

As part of the plan, the public were interviewed along with business managers and staff to understand their views of Luton and what they would like to see improved.

Mr Broadhead added: "This is not about replacing what the council or the police does but is about adding to services and doing things which would not happen without the BID."

Raid finds hoard of illicit products

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

TRADING Standards have said further raids will take place as they continue a crackdown on the sale of illegal products.

A fourth raid this year on shops found a huge haul of illicit tobacco and alcohol.

It uncovered 33,000 cigarettes, 27kg of rolling tobacco and 524 litres of alcohol. The products are estimated to have evaded £22,000 of duty and VAT.

Stephen Dibble, Luton's Trading Standards team leader, said: "In addition to the alcohol and tobacco products, we also recovered illegal cosmetics. It's too early to tell whether we're cutting down on the trade.

"There was a drop between the second and third raids but an increase between the last two.

"However, it is worth noting that with HMRC on board we were able to carry out many more raids than in previous visits."

Among the spirits seized was 52 bottles of yellow and brown coloured vodka which has been sent for tests to see whether they contain methanol and other chemicals which can cause blindness when drunk.

Mr Dibble added: "We aim to clamp down on the illicit trade of alcohol and cigarettes, which not only helps the public by keeping dangerous products off the streets but also helps to support legitimate, tax paying local businesses.

"We are not sure exactly when the next raid will happen, but we are sure there will be another as we look to clamp down on the sale of illicit products in Luton."

Mela aims higher for its 15th anniversary

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE dates are in, the plans are in motion and it promises to be the biggest yet.

After the success of this year's Mela, where 22,000 people flocked to Wardown Park to take part in the festivities, plans are afoot for 2015, which will be held over two days as the event celebrates its 15th year.

Speaking about the entertainment on offer at this year's festival, organiser Furhaad Ahmed, said: "It was the first time but it definitely won't be the last time we have an international act appear at the Mela."

"For next year's event, we hope to have three or maybe four international acts on our stage as we look to make next year even bigger as we celebrate our 15th anniversary."

The festival received rave reviews this year, with people coming from all over the country to enjoy the fun.

Mr Ahmed said: "We have

CELEBRATION: People enjoy the fun at this year's festival

Watch a video

See footage from the event at luton-dunstable.co.uk already had people asking about the next Mela."

As far as next year goes, besides an increase in the number of international acts, it is expected the Mela will be finished with a large fireworks display.

The event itself is organised by only a handful of people, with Mr Ahmed at the forefront, and is funded by local people and businesses, receiving no grants.

Mr Ahmed said: "Currently we are looking for sponsorship from across Luton so we can expand and improve the Mela."

"We want to get this organised so the 15th year will be the biggest and most successful event yet."

If you are interested in sponsoring the 2015 Luton Mela, contact Mr Ahmed on 07966 723454.

EDUCATION & TRAINING

Barnfield College Students had an Award Winning July

Education isn't just about passing exams. Some of the students at Barnfield College were successful in vocational regional and national awards in July.

Joshua Batson, a BTEC student studying an Extended Diploma in General Engineering achieved three distinction grades D*D*D*. Joshua was awarded a £15,000 Engineering bursary by the Bedfordshire Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with local engineering companies, and is using it to study Engineering at University. His tutor, Neil Lusby, said: "Joshua was an outstanding student and a real pleasure to teach. He had a keen sense of humour and was always helpful to his peers."

An apprentice studying at Barnfield College has won Apprentice of the Year at Luton Borough Council. Carl Caruana works for 4 days a week painting and decorating council properties around Luton but Thursdays sees him joining his fellow students at Barnfield's Technology Campus working toward his NVQ Level 2 Diploma in Painting and Decorating. Carl's tutor at the College, who was delighted by Carl's award, said: "We are very proud of Carl. His success is well deserved".

Barnfield College has also had success at SkillBuild, the largest multi-trade competition in the country for construction trainees and apprentices.

Brandon Lowe, a Level 1 Painting and Decorating Student at the College won silver in the regional heats. Brandon was delighted with his success.

Another success story is Reece Brimmer, a Level 2 Plastering student, who won his regional heat, with second highest score in the country. Reece's performance was so impressive that he has been offered a 3-month sabbatical in America next term.

Dave McCool, programme area leader for construction, was delighted that his students are achieving such success and recognition. He said: "All of the staff here at the College are proud of our students, and their success is well deserved."

It is not only the Construction students who are earning recognition. One of the College student studying Level 4 Public Service was successful in winning the Adult Learner's Week, HE in FE Achiever of the Year. Faye Ginda was praised by her tutor, Mark Beddow, who said: "Faye is without doubt one of the finest young women of her generation; she has proven that if you try you can succeed."

The hairdressing department of the College is continuing to train exceptional students, with one of its students taking the bronze position at this year's World Skills regional finals. Success can continue even after leaving College. It has just been announced that one of last year's students, Jamie Harper Ptolomey, has made the short list of English Heritage's Angel Awards, founded by Andrew Lloyd Webber, to reward the efforts of local people in saving their heritage, Barnfield College. This is a very exciting development for Jamie and we are hoping that the whole of Luton will vote for Jamie to win this award which is voted for by the public.

All the students and staff at Barnfield College are so proud that our students continue to demonstrate what can be achieved with a passion for their chosen vocation, hard work and talent. We know that our new intake of students in September will continue to bring credit to the College.

Vivaro challenge makes it to Siberia

THREE Luton-built Vauxhall Vivaro vans, which set out on a trip covering almost 12,000 miles, have made it to Siberia. Covering 10 time zones, two continents and more than 17 countries they finally made it to their destination after 60 days. They did this battling climbs of up to 8,000 feet and stifling heat, at times approaching 40 degrees.

The expedition, a fundraiser for the charity Help for Heroes, saw former soldiers and crew including a mechanic and a medic complete the journey of a lifetime in the Vivaros.

Bronson convicted after prison attack

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

LUTON-born Charles Bronson has been convicted of assaulting the governor of HMP Woodhill in Milton Keynes.

The notorious prisoner, 61, pleaded guilty to assault occasioning actual bodily harm at Amersham Crown Court on Monday and was sentenced to a further two years imprisonment.

Shortly before 8am on Friday, February 28 Bronson held the governor of the prison, Alan Parkins, in a headlock. He held him so tightly that Mr Parkins was unable to breathe. Bronson also struck him several times on the head, before several prison officers came to the defence of the governor and Bronson was restrained.

Mr Parkins suffered bruising to his shoulder and arm, abrasions to his face and a nose bleed.

Bronson first went to prison in 1974 after being sentenced to seven years in jail for an armed robbery. Since then he has become Britain's most notorious prisoner due to his antics inside.

Police were immediately informed of the assault and conducted a full investigation.

Our 'well regarded' L&D now fighting fit

A VERY important part of my job as a local MP is to make sure that our NHS is delivering really good care for local people.

We are fortunate to have a very well regarded Luton and Dunstable Hospital as well as dedicated GPs and community health staff.

Of course from time to time things go wrong, as they do in any organisation, and I am always available to my constituents to take up any particular concerns they may have.

I have raised concerns in the past about aspects of orthopaedic care at the Luton and Dunstable Hospital and I believe that improvements have been made since then.

There were concerns before last winter that our accident and emergency departments would not be able to cope but it is very good news that A&E targets have been met both for the last quarter and for the last year as a whole despite there being over 100 more admissions each week since the previous year.

On average, waiting times in A&E have fallen from more than 70 minutes under the last government to 30 minutes now.

Our A&E departments are

Andrew Selous, MP for South West Bedfordshire, discusses the NHS and improvements that have been made at the L&D Hospital treating on average 2,000 more people every day within four hours compared to what happened before 2010.

Across the whole of the NHS 800,000 more operations have been carried out every year under this government and at the same time mixed sex wards have been virtually eliminated and hospital infections halved.

In addition, waiting times are lower at 18, 26 and 52 weeks than at any time under the last government.

Many patients have also benefitted from the new Cancer Drugs Fund.

The reforms which we have introduced are enabling £1 billion in back office savings to be redirected into front line care enabling 1,700 more nurses and 7,000 more doctors to be employed.

The direction the coalition government has taken in England is in sharp contrast to what has happened in Wales where the government there has cut NHS spending and with a result that a third of Welsh patients are now waiting more than eight weeks for a scan compared to just one per cent in England.

The government is determined that the lessons of the Mid Staffordshire Hospital scandal will be learnt.

We now have a Chief Inspector of Hospitals who has put 14 hospitals in special measures.

These hospitals are being turned around.

MORI polling shows that the number of people who feel they are being treated with dignity and respect by the NHS has gone up by 10 per cent to the highest level ever.

Getting rid of the duffle coat is just one of Alan Davies' Little Victories

MEET... ALAN DAVIES

LITTLE VICTORIES

Milton Keynes Theatre

Sunday, September 28 at 8pm

WHEN I call him up, there's some kind of drama going on in Alan Davies' house. It involves a cup of water and a dress. Not his – either the water or the dress. The family has just got back from holiday and it's tea-time in the Davies' household. It doesn't take Jonathan Creek to figure out that the dress and the cup of water would appear to be inextricably linked to his five-year-old daughter, Susie.

Family matters are very much at the heart of Little Victories, Alan Davies' new stand-up show, which is coming to MK Theatre on Sunday, September 28.

"It's about my relationship with my dad, my children, my partners. It's all true," he says. "But in particular it refers to one or two anecdotes when I was trying to get one over on my dad. When I'm writing I mix up stories and then try to find connections between them. I might have a funny thought. On its own it doesn't go anywhere but in connection with another story it becomes laugh out loud."

While he is clearly a very funny man, Alan is also an actor and, these days, a presenter of documentary programmes too.

"I suppose you might call me an entertainer," he says. "But up until I was 20, people called it showing off. I call myself a comedian now."

He first discovered the joy of making someone laugh when he was very young. "I'd lie on my back and wave my legs around for my mum and be very grateful if I got a smile or a laugh out of her. But I was in love with her."

It's a poignant memory because Alan's mother died of cancer when he was only six years old and the pain of that loss has never really gone away. But now, as a father of two small children himself, he has a brighter and clearer perspective on life. "I don't have a dark side," he insists. "You know what? If I feel down my first port of call is the old Jimmy Cliff song, Better Days Are Coming."

Partly due to his 11 year stint as the naughty schoolboy to Stephen Fry's headmaster on QI, and partly due to that Jonathan Creek mop of untamed curls, Alan is instantly recognisable wherever he goes.

So has he ever embarrassed himself by behaving like an idiot on meeting someone famous? "There was a time at the Montreal comedy festival. I'm a big fan of Norm MacDonald, the Canadian stand-up comedian. I was with a mate and we'd been up late and had a few at the bar and Norm came in. I can't remember what I said but I felt like I had to apologise the next day but he said 'No, you guys were great!'. I wish I could remember what we did."

It could, of course, have been some random facts that he'd picked up from QI. "Sometimes they just pop out," he admits. "Someone will say, 'Is that true?' and I'll say 'well we had it on QI, so it must be'..."

And is a duffle coat still his outerwear of choice? Fans of the eternal 1960s student look will be sorry to hear this.

"No," he mutters, darkly. "I can't ever wear a duffle coat again." So what else is a fashion no-no these days?

"I did a run of shows a few years back wearing a pair of lime green moleskin trousers.

"Suddenly, this voice came from right up in the gods: 'Are you colour blind?' Needless to say, I ditched the lime green trousers. My wife says that if you ever want to throw a stand-up comic, just shout out something about their appearance. Doing stand-up is the most nerve-wracking thing because you're vulnerable up there" he says. "But you've got to look relaxed and natural and you have to prod the audience to get involved."

"I enjoyed playing Milton Keynes last time, we filled it out, but because it's one of those new theatres, it's very dark in the auditorium and you can't see the faces of the audience. So this time, I'm going to have a word with the lighting man and get some sort of lights focused onto the audience so that I can see their eyes."

And maybe so that Alan can identify anyone who's rash enough to heckle him about what he's wearing. I'm guessing it won't be lime green trousers – or a duffle coat.

UP THE CREEK? As long as Alan Davies is careful about what he wears on stage he shouldn't have any problem at all in being really Quite Interesting in his new, one-man show, Little Victories

Competition returns to unearth hidden gems for pantomime

THEATRE

PANTO FACTOR

The Grove Theatre
September 17, 7pm

AFTER the huge success of last year's talent show and Dunstable's love for eventual winner Ben Irish, Panto Factor returns to the Grove Theatre this month.

This year, they are searching for two stars, with the roles of Robin Hood and Maid Marian up for grabs in the Grove's Christmas pantomime, Robin Hood and the Babes in the Wood.

The winners will join the cast of the pantomime alongside several star names.

Already confirmed to be performing are Alan Fletcher from Neighbours, as the Sheriff of Nottingham, Andy Abraham of X Factor fame who will be playing Little John and 90s pop star Lolly, known for her hit Hey Mickey but now going by her birth name Anna Kumble, who will be starring as the Fairy of the Forest.

In the build up to the event, you can see the auditions from all eight finalists online so you can decide on your favourite going into the live show.

The grand final will see all of the finalists battling it out for the two lead roles alongside the stars.

Tickets for the event are £5 and are available in person, online and over the phone.

A £1.50 transaction charge applies for online and telephone bookings.

Tickets can be bought at grovetheatre.co.uk/events/panto-factor-grand-final/

A bit of spice tikkas my fancy

INDIAN OCEAN, LUTON

BEING a regular visitor to Sundon Park, I've driven past the Indian Ocean many times but never ventured inside.

However, I have heard many good things about it so it was against this backdrop that my companion and I went there on Bank Holiday Monday.

From the outside there is nothing that gives you an obvious reason to go in but upon entry I was struck by the atmosphere.

The dim lighting and soothing Indian music was in stark contrast to the depressing rainy weather which coloured the evening.

Indian Ocean has a slightly upmarket feel to it.

The service is efficient and our coats were even hung up for us while we were whisked to our table and served some poppadoms.

These were crisp and crunchy, and although I would have gladly eaten them plain, they were accompanied by a selection of dips including mint, coconut chutney and mango chutney.

For the starters I had the Tandoor Salmon and my companion the Chicken Tikka.

Both were tender and soft, although the salmon was served with a yellow yoghurt sauce I did not fancy.

The salmon had a nice kick to it but towards the end this slightly overpowered its natural taste. When eating out I sometimes opt for the house special as this can be a barometer of what makes the place unique to its competitors.

The Indian Ocean Special is a dish of thinly sliced chicken pieces cooked in a clay oven and then fried with green pepper and onions in light spice. I had it with pilau rice.

It did not excite as much as the name suggested but it didn't disap-point either and made for a solid meal. Dessert was the flute hazel for me and nouka for my companion. Initially they were too hard (they had come straight from the freezer) but after some defrosting they opened up and were polished off to make a pretty good ending to our meal.

At £43.85 for two, Indian Ocean is a good choice for a family, a group or two people simply wishing to escape the Bank Holiday clouds.

Stage adaptation of cult classic film is one not to miss

THEATRE

THE LADYKILLERS

Luton Library Theatre
September 18-20, 19.30pm

THE classic black comedy The Ladykillers is coming to Luton for a limited run later this month.

It tells the tale of a sweet little old lady, alone in her house, pitted against a gang of criminal misfits who will stop at nothing.

Posing as amateur musicians, Professor Marcus and his gang rent rooms in the lopsided house of sweet but strict Mrs Wilberforce.

The villains plot to involve her unwittingly in Marcus's brilliantly conceived heist job.

The police are left stumped but Mrs Wilberforce becomes wise to their ruse and Marcus concludes that there is only one way to keep the old lady quiet.

With only her parrot, General Gordon, to help her, Mrs W is alone with five desperate men. But who will be forced to face the music?

This version of the 1955 film was written by Graham Lineham, best known as the creator of several much loved comedy TV shows, such as Father Ted, Black Books and the IT Crowd.

Playing for just three nights, this is a show that you'd be mad to miss, with the original run on the West End receiving critical acclaim.

Tickets are £8 for the Thursday performance and £10 for the Friday and Saturday shows.

Lucy unlocks life's big questions

FILM REVIEW

LUCY (15)

Out now

LIFE was given to us a billion years ago. What have we done with it?

This is the question Lucy attempts to answer in this sci-fi thriller from director Luc Besson which challenges us to stretch our imagination.

Lucy is in the wrong place at the wrong time when her boyfriend tricks her into delivering a mysterious suitcase to an Asian drug cartel.

Forced into smuggling an unknown drug in her stomach to Europe, the bag accidentally splits and Lucy is soon overwhelmed by its powerful effects. The film makes a dramatic turn from the criminal to the supernatural, as the drugs gradually unlock the full potential of Lucy's brain.

She seeks out Professor Norman to help understand what's happening. He maintains that humans only use a small percentage of our brains and has theorised what would happen if they could utilise more of it.

Lucy's mental capacity continues to rise to 40 and 50 per cent brain function. With every increase she unlocks new abilities from mind reading and telekinesis, to even being able to control time.

Every ability adds to the film's creative mix with stunning scenery and realistic effects, literally on a cosmic scale, that pick up the pace to lead to the film's climax.

Scarlett Johansson as Lucy is engaging to watch as she conquers every emotion she has in her acting artillery. From an average girl who shows real terror at the horrors before her, Johansson transforms into a fearless and charming heroine with a higher sense of purpose. The contrast is striking.

She soon poses a formidable threat to drug lord Mr Chan, who is hot on her trail with a band of henchmen to recover his precious cargo. The film oozes enthusiasm and certainly stands out from the crowd. We even forgive the glaring gaps in its own logic as it powers through with great visuals and entertaining action.

The story itself can be nonsensical, but that's okay, as Lucy focuses more on intriguing themes surrounding the nature of humanity and what we could go on to achieve.

My advice? The plot will fall apart if you over-think it so just sit back and enjoy.

Estate Agents

ACT NOW IF YOU WANT TO MOVE HOME BEFORE THE END OF 2014

Local leading estate agency Taylors in Luton is advising sellers and homebuyers to act now if they want to be moved into their new home before the end of the year.

The autumn is a prime time for selling property as after the summer holidays, home buyers are more determined to find a property and complete on the sale before Christmas arrives. This year is no different with continued improvements in the housing market, house prices and developments in mortgage lending which is encouraging more people to move home. Dedicated sellers can take advantage of this renewed interest and look to seal a deal quickly.

Commenting, Richard Yusuf Regional Manager, Countrywide Estate Agents said:

"We are seeing a responsible and sustainable recovery in the housing market and the volume of housing transactions is continuing to grow at a measured pace, with more people moving home in the first half of 2014 compared to the same period in 2013. We expect this momentum to continue throughout the remainder of the year."

"This year we have seen the introduction of the Mortgage Market Review (MMR), which means that brokers and lenders need to demonstrate that the mortgage recommendation they make is in the best interests of the customer and meet's the customer's individual needs. Our mortgage consultant can talk you through the new process and help you gather the information required to meet the lender's requirements."

In order to help people understand the changes in the local housing market conditions, the impact of MMR on the mortgage process and how a potential interest rate rise could impact you, Taylors in Luton is running a dedicated property campaign this September called 'Property Live – Let's talk property'.

During this period the estate agent is encouraging property sellers, buyers, landlords and those looking for mortgage advice, to come and talk to them about their property dilemmas and find out how they can move home before the end of the year.

Commenting, Richard, said:

"We believe it is important for current and prospective property buyers and sellers as well as landlords to be aware of current market conditions and any changes that could impact the decisions they make. We look forward to welcoming people to our branch throughout the month, helping people to make the right decision for them and assisting them in moving home this year"

PRESS RELEASE

SEPTEMBER 2014

Connells new homes nearly all sold

Connells estate agency in Luton is delighted to report very high levels of interest in the new homes developments Challney Gardens and Farley Meadows. The local office on Hitchin Road launched the two new sites early this year and only 15 properties remain across the two developments

Challney Gardens and Farley Meadows offer two, three and four bedroom properties, with each home finished to an impeccable standard and offering fine attention to detail throughout.

Branch Manager, Lee Clark is delighted by the popularity of both new homes schemes and says buyers have been extremely impressed with both sites.: "We've had a great deal of interest in both Challney Gardens and Farley Meadows since they came onto the market," says Lee. "New build properties are highly sought after in the area and buyers have been quick to snap these homes up because they offer good living space in a quiet environment."

With just a handful of properties left for sale at Challney Gardens and Farley Meadows Lee is keen to advise any interested individuals to get in touch with the Luton office now before the annual autumn rush kicks in: "From the beginning of September the market tends to pick up and start getting really busy as the kids go back to school," Lee continues. "Potential buyers and sellers turn their attention back to the property market and try to get everything in place before Christmas arrives. We are therefore expecting a large influx of enquiries on these two developments, I urge anybody interested in buying a property at Challney Gardens or Farley Meadows to get in touch as soon as possible."

If you would like more information on either Challney Gardens or Farley Meadows call Connells in Luton on 01582 450 999 or email luton@connells.co.uk

Vacancy ID: 101806

The last two years have been extremely challenging for Luton Borough Council, and as an organisation we have risen to that challenge, achieving savings in excess of £54million, and improving both productivity and customer satisfaction.

But times are still tough, and the savings now required of the Council. As a result of the continued requirement to shape our services in the most efficient and effective way to meet external challenges on our finance, mean that we are now looking for savings of nearly £50million over the next three years.

The Luton Excellence Team is there to drive change within the organisation and to work with all business areas across the Council to ensure that these savings are delivered and that we continue to always strive to place the needs of Luton's people at the heart of everything we do.

A secondment/fixed term opportunity for an experienced finance professional has arisen within the team. We are looking for a Project Finance Lead to support the Transformation Programme across the organisation, play a key role in the Growth Area Challenge process and support the LEX team in the delivery of the work programme.

This role presents a real opportunity to use your financial expertise, develop new skills within the LEX team from working on a wide variety of projects, and the opportunity to get 'under the bonnet' of our savings and efficiency programme.

If you would like an informal discussion about the role please contact Jayne Robinson, Programme Director on 01582 547952, or 07710 387000.

ECONOMY'S LOOKING GREAT

Set the controls for Unfeasible Economy and enjoy the 185PS Audi TT ultra. This third generation TT has enough about it to get to 62mph in just 7.1 seconds and on to 150mph, yet driven with a bit more circumspection will average 67.3mpg and 110g/km. Looking good doesn't need to cost the Earth.

The ultra's 184PS 2.0-litre TDI diesel sends power to the front wheels only, the lack of quattro mechanicals helping offset the additional weight of the diesel engine. Clever traction control electronics help you get as much of that 380Nm to the road. You'll need to be pretty handy with clutch and stick as the ultra is only offered with a six-speed manual 'box, but it'll still get to 62mph in 7.1 seconds and on to a top speed of 150mph.

One thing's for sure. Even if you'd never seen this car before, you'd know it was an Audi TT. It's still a handsome car but it looks like a midlife facelift of the second generation model more than an all-new piece of design. The big front grille gives the car a meaner look and there are some lovely details.

Audi's third generation TT looks to meld the sharp design of the first gen car with the driveability of the MK 2 model and combine that with a slicker, user configurable digital feel for version three. The ultra model adds formidable efficiency to that mix, its 67.2mpg fuel consumption figure bettering that of some city scooters. Despite that, the powerplant suggests that it hasn't forgotten that it's a sporting car; something that a 185PS and 380Nm combination ought to drive home.

There aren't many rivals which offer this combination of quality, depth of design and efficiency. Porsche's Cayman is often touted as a TT rival but there's nothing there to match the ultra. BMW's 2 Series is now the TT's closest competitor but these two cars are so different in execution. You're either in the BMW or the Audi camp and there are few floating buyers in the middle of that particular Venn diagram. The TT ultra demonstrates that you can have just a tiny bit of hedonism in your life, even if you are old enough to know better.

Luton have to settle for an opening day draw

DRAW: Luton's Craig South against Romford. Picture: Ian Nancollas

BY TIM BARTLETT
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

LUTON opened their National One North account at home with a 24-24 draw against Romford & Gidea Park this weekend.

"We're disappointed," said Luton's Director of Rugby Paul Allen. "We've beaten them comprehensively the last couple of times we've played them."

Steve Ellis got Luton up and running with the try of the game inside the first couple of minutes, demonstrating why Mike Rayer gave him a trial at Bedford Blues. "Steve played really well," said Allen. "I think it shows, as a club, how we're looking to develop players."

Luton lead 16-14 at the half-time interval as Rik Hobbs added a conversion to Ellis' try and a further two penalties, but they saw Romford respond with a penalty of their own in the second period.

The visitors then added a converted try to lead 24-16 as the game reached the three-quarter mark.

Hobbs added a further three points from a penalty before Chris Davies touched down to level the game at 24-24, but Hobbs was unable to convert to put Luton in front.

"We showed collective endeavour this afternoon," said Allen. "But we need to make better use of our opportunities if we're to realise this season's target of a top-two finish, we had enough chances to win the game today, but we just didn't take them."

Luton host Letchworth Garden City next weekend at London Road, a club they narrowly beat at home last December 13-10, although they lost 15-12 to them on the road on the second weekend.

Allen's men will need to make better use of opportunities when offered to record a first victory.

LEAGUE TWO
LUTON TOWN 0
PLYMOUTH ARGYLE 1

BY SPORTSDESK
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

THE Hatters are still searching for their first home victory back in the Football League as Plymouth Argyle taught them another lesson about life at the higher level yesterday.

Some expected the Conference champions to easily adapt to life in League Two but their only success in the opening six games came on the opening day at Carlisle and they are now without a victory in six in all competitions.

It was a case of what might have been as the Hatters had the best of the first half, only to miss chances, and they were duly punished after the break as a revitalised Argyle claimed the only goal courtesy of a brilliant individual effort by Dominic Blizard.

Questions about Town's front-line still need to be answered following the departure of lethal marksman Andre Gray to Brentford in the summer as Luton were unable to break down the Devon side's backline.

How they could have done with Gray's finishing and pace – particularly as his partner last season Paul Benson missed out with a hamstring problem – but in his absence the Hatters will have to wait a little bit longer for a long overdue Football League three points at Kenilworth Road.

John Still's men have slipped to 19th in the table and will now focus on hosting Cheltenham Town next Saturday.

Plymouth's fans left Devon at half five in the morning in order to make Kenilworth Road for this 12.15pm kick-off – an early start to allow Sky Sports to beam the game live.

Any tired Argyle eyes would not have enjoyed the start their team made though as Curtis Nelson was booked inside two minutes for a cheeky handball which stopped an early Hatters move in its tracks.

From the resulting free-kick, Luke Guttridge did well to dip his effort over the wall but Plymouth stopper Luke McCormick was equal to it with a double handed save which batted the set-piece over the bar.

It was Luton who made the stronger start but they also saw a defender enter the book as Paul Connolly was yellow-carded for a late lunge on Lewis Alessandra, before Luke Rooney lashed a fine Jake Howells cross just over after a sprint to the edge of the box.

Argyle settled into the contest and Alessandra should have put them in front when he honed in on Mark Tyler's goal, but his effort was straight at the experienced Town keeper.

Hatters striker Mark Cullen dragged a shot horribly wide across McCormick's goal before

Duo are sent to Dover Athletic on loan

HATTERS

LUTON Town duo Solomon Taiwo and Ricky Miller have both joined Conference Premier outfit Dover Athletic on one-month loan deals.

Taiwo, 29, and Miller, 25, will play for the side which gained promotion from the Conference South last season.

Hatters boss John Still told the club website: "This move will do both players the power of good."

"Both are desperate to play regular first team football."

"We had to be sure about which club to send them to – and we were keen on making sure they were playing at a competitive level.

"Dover are, like us, up a level having gone up last season and will look after them both."

"In Ricky's case he is returning from injury and this will be a good opportunity to earn some competitive match fitness."

Midfielder Taiwo has struggled for first team opportunities at Town while striker Miller, last year's Conference North player of the season, hasn't featured in a Hatters shirt since switching to Luton from Boston United during the summer.

Boston had expressed an interest in taking him back on loan themselves but as they still play in the Conference North, Luton have opted to send him to a club at a higher level.

Meanwhile, yesterday's draw for the second round of the Johnstone's Paint Trophy has seen Luton handed a home tie with League One outfit Crawley Town.

The match will be the Hatters' first in the competition since they won the trophy in 2009 with a victory over Scunthorpe United at Wembley, so the clash with the Reds will begin their 'defence' of the title.

Town were relegated to the Conference in the same season after a controversial 30 point deduction and have not been eligible to compete until their return to the Football League this year.

HAVING A CRACK: Substitute Ross Lafayette fires home a shot but the Plymouth defence held firm.

Pictures: Gareth Owen

Blizzard after misfiring

Howells missed a big chance with just the keeper to beat.

After the superb Guttridge's through-ball Howells was in position to smash home but his shot lacked the required power and was tipped around the post.

Howells was guilty of missing another good opportunity before the end of the half as his close range effort after a flowing move was again matched by McCormick.

Referee Mick Russell breathed a sigh of relief at the save as he unwittingly got in the way of a Plymouth pass to set the move in motion.

The second half began with Connolly missing a difficult chance at the back post but Argyle had obviously been motivated by a half-time team talk and looked like a much better outfit.

Blizzard fired a warning sign with a side footed effort which brushed a post and then he settled the clash with a moment of class.

Luton's defenders will be unhappy that he was allowed to run so freely across the box, but he danced beautifully through challenges before firing a superb low finish into Tyler's corner.

Town continued to be frustrated as they searched for a winner against a superbly marshalled defence and, following last weekend's defeat at Shrewsbury, know they have work to do ahead of the visit of the Robins next weekend.

Luton Town: Tyler, Griffiths, Lacey, Connolly, McNulty, Ruddock-Mpanzu, Rooney, Guttridge, Drury (Stevenson 79), Howells (Lawless 69), Cullen, (Lafayette 71). Unused subs: Smith, Wall, Justham, Wilkinson.

Plymouth Argyle: McCormick, Mellor, McHugh, Nelson, Hartley, Alessandra, Banton ((Bray 58 (Smalley 69)), Blizzard, Cox, O'Connor, Reid. Unused: Bittner, Purrington, Norburn, Harvey, Thomas. Att: 7,864.

PLUS: Alex Lawless returned from the bench after injury

Dunstable leave it late to take a point away at Paulton

FOOTBALL

A LATE penalty saw Dunstable Town grab a point from the jaws of defeat, scoring twice in the last 10 minutes to draw 2-2 away to Paulton United.

The game looked almost over at the half, with the hosts taking a 2-0 advantage in at the break.

Nick McCootie scored with just fifteen minutes gone, turning and losing his marker before slotting the ball home.

They then doubled their lead 10 minutes before the break through Michael Bryant.

On the hour mark the game could have all been over, with Bryant coming within inches of adding a third and his second of the game. He unleashed a fierce drive which cannoned back off the crossbar.

In the 79th minute, Dunstable were awarded a free kick within shooting range.

Scott Davies struck it beautifully, giving Kyle Phillips in the Paulton goal no chance.

Then, just five minutes from the end they were given the chance to grab something from the game, which just six minutes earlier looked improbable.

The Blues were awarded a penalty, which Ben Herd stepped up to take a coolly slotted home.

Dunstable saw the rest of the game out to take a point.

The result sees The Blues remain in second place in the table, but they have lost some ground to Poole Town, who moved five points clear with a 1-0 win away to Redditch United.

Dunstable are next in action when they host Bedfordshire rivals Arlesey Town on Tuesday.

In the Southern League Division One Central, Barton Rovers battled to a 2-2 draw at home to Aylesbury United.

The first half was an open, even affair with both sides creating decent chances.

Just before the break, Nat Peacock broke the deadlock to put the hosts in front.

Aylesbury equalised soon after the restart through Stacey Field, before Billy Lannon almost immediately levelled the tie.

On the hour mark, the visitors levelled the tie again, with Field adding his second of the match.

A draw was probably a fair result for both sides after a scrappy second half.

Barton are next in action on Tuesday when they travel to Potters Bar Town.

There were good results for both Crawley Green and AFC Dunstable in the FA Vase, both running out 3-1 winners.

Crawley hosted Thrapston Town on Friday evening, with three second half goals enough to see them progress from the First Qualifying Round.

Dunstable won 3-1 away to CD Hounslow United yesterday afternoon.

Plenty to ponder

LUTON Town boss John Still and the rest of the Hatters bench were left with plenty to ponder after a 1-0 home defeat to Plymouth Argyle yesterday, which means they have collected just one victory in their first six matches back in the Football League.

The lack of goals was again the issue as Town were unable to find the target despite a promising first half at Kenilworth Road.

The Hatters are still waiting for a first home victory back in the promised land of the Football League with fans calling on Still to address the side's lack of a cutting edge.

However, the boss will not be too downbeat following an equally slow start to the Conference campaign last season which eventually saw Luton crowned as Skril Premier champions.
